TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This will introduce Thor Svenson and other members of the Windansea Surf Club of San Diego, who will be touring the South Pacific this summer to engage in competitive surfing and as informal ambassadors of good will.

This is an outstanding group of individuals dedicated to the principles of competitive sportsmanship, both in this country and abroad. They have excelled in their field, being Grand Champions of the 12th International Surfing Contest at Makaha, Hawaii; and winner of all events at the annual Diamond Head Paddle Board Races in December, 1964.

I understand this group will be visiting Tahiti, New Zealand, Australia, New Caledonia, and Fiji; and this letter of introduction and commendation is directed especially to the officials of those countries to whom I hereby convey my greetings. I shall personally appreciate any courtesies extended to these fine Californians in the course of their travels. We will be anxious to reciprocate whenever any of you come to our State.

Ronald Reagan
